Seeking the God of the Bible Together

"Quédate en casa" means to stay at home, these phrases are the most seen and heard today. How has COVID-19 changed the rhythm of your life? All the schools here in Mexico are closed until at least April 30th. Our children are doing their school work at home. Barbarita is helping them well. College students are taking online assignments. COMPA campus ministry has been prayerfully connecting with students through Facebook. We have been working at home to serve students with daily Bible verses, video chats, and phone calls. Ministry does not stop during a pandemic. However, it did not change our faith in God; it has drawn us closer to God by seeking His presence daily.

PRAISE & PRAISE

- Praise God that COMPA virtual-online spiritual retreat was dynamic and valuable, and more students were seeking God's word due to the pandemic.
- Praise God that our financial support reached 106% this month. Anything given above the goal from now until June 30th will be transferred to other Resonate missionaries who are struggling to meet financial goals.

Moreover, our partner COMPA campus ministry planned over a year ago to have their national students spiritual retreat from April 4th through 9th here in Queretaro. Due to COVID-19, the cancelled camp was changed to a two-day video conference April 6th and 7th. The virtual-online retreat continued through Facebook Live and Zoom meetings. We were asked to join with them in prayers that the Spirit of the Lord would direct and guide the spiritual retreat online since this was their first time. The theme remained the same: "Don't be afraid. We have hope." We studied the book of Revelation. I was asked to lead one of the Bible study groups. In my group, I had ten students, and two of them were from Brazil. We studied Revelation 3:12-20 and 4:1-11 for 75 minutes each day. All of the students expressed how they were encouraged and grateful to be part of God's covenant community through social media in the midst of adversity. Here is the report from COMPA:

- * 1,048 people participated the virtual-online retreat on Facebook.
- * 60 Bible study groups in the Zoom meeting were held for 650 people.
- * 50 leaders served at the two-days virtual-online retreat.

Thus, we can see how God is moving in the midst of the pandemic because together we were able to reach 1,048 people virtually, instead of just the 300 who were originally planning to attend the national camp. Join with us in prayer for students that they will be seeking more the God of the Bible, and that they will let the light of Jesus shine in their lives in these unprecedented times of stay at home.
