Rice and Bibles

On July 1st, our state Queretaro, Mexico, moved from phase red to phase orange during the coronavirus pandemic. There has been much talk about if this was a good idea or not. Some people were able to return to work recently, but many are still providing for several family members in one home, or unemployed. There is a sense of desperation as every day one does not know if we will return to the mandatory “red” and to stay home. We have continued to place rice, beans, soap and Bibles in the library. Several times a day, the doorbell rings if there is not food in the library box. Up to date, 44 Bibles have been shared through the little library. As always, God finds a way to move His work forward. As much as the Little Free Library has been a light in our community, it has been a blessing to our family as well. Our kids take pride in being sure there is always rice, beans, and a Bible in the box. We have always been “out there” organizing events and workshops to spread God’s love, yet as a

Campus Ministry Leadership Training Online

"The harvest is plentiful, but the workers are few. Ask the Lord of the harvest, therefore, to send out workers into his harvest field," Jesus said to his disciples in Luke 10:2. Jesus' words resonate to COMPA leaders in the pandemic —Send out workers into His harvest field—universities. From July 20th through 23rd, COMPA ministry organized their first new leadership training online. The theme was "Justice in the Old Testament." The main speaker was Malton Acosta, an Old Testament Professor at Trinity Evangelical Divinity school. There were daily devotions, workshops, and prayer times. 113 students from 23 different states of Mexico participated. 60 staff served them (see the picture below). One of the students said, "The pandemic doesn't change our identity in Christ. It has helped us to discern more the Spirit of the LORD and follow His direction how to reach out students who don't know Jesus as their Savior and LORD." Please, join with us to pray for new leaders that God will give them wisdom and patience to reach out students online.
